

NorthCoast Rehab Services is committed to providing quality information to its clients. While every effort has been made to ensure accuracy, and reliability of the information within these documents, NorthCoast Rehab accepts no responsibility for errors, omissions or amendments made since the time of publishing. Confirmation of information may be sought from NorthCoast Rehab or originating bodies providing the information. NorthCoast Rehab has no control over the content of material published by cross referenced sites. It is the responsibility of the internet user to make their own decision as to the relevancy, accuracy, currency and reliability of information found on those sites.